

UMBILICALS FOR NAUTICAL AND OFF-SHORE

HOSES › Nautical hoses - Off-shore umbilical hoses

Marine umbilicals are used for connection on board ships (floating) to underwater machinery and/or systems or on marine platforms, mainly used on cable-laying ships.

They are the most performing and resistant pipes that can be built for the most demanding uses: mechanical, chemical, electrical

We can provide the most diverse solutions and supply flexible pipes suited to the most particular requests in this regard.

Special rubber or nylon hoses, both single and multi-hose, also with coaxial electrical cables, with Kevlar reinforcement structure.
